

TESTIMONIAL #2

Dear Mrs. Malay,

Rarely in today's world do you find the time to thank someone who has done so much to help change two people's lives.

Berlie and I fell in love, but came to understand that we were different – not just by gender, but by background, life's experiences, past relationships, and above all, our two cultures.

Getting married in mid-life is difficult in itself, but choosing to marry someone from a different culture carries enormous challenges some are not prepared to handle. I cannot understand what it is like to grow up in another country any more than Berlie can understand my life's journey to this exact point in time. We all carry with us the imprint of our past, and sometimes as we grow older, we trip over our own thinking. You cannot go forward into the future with your eyes focused behind you.

Berlie and I decided to seek help, and God was smiling on us when we found you.

Your understanding, sensitivity, direction and humor guided Berlie and I onto a new path in our life's journey together. Working with you over time, we fought, cried, hugged and laughed our way to a new understanding of each other. When we married on December 17, 2006 we dedicated a special prayer of thanksgiving to you for helping us to our life together.

On your journey through life, if anyone asks if you've "made a difference" along the way, please think of a very happy couple, smiling at you from a honeymoon picture.

Sincerely,

Kevin & Berlie Rohan
